

Policy and regulations service

Cornwall Insight's 'Policy and regulations service' is designed to help generators, suppliers, investors, large energy users and other players with interests in the Irish electricity and gas markets to stay up-to-date with open consultations in related policies and regulations.

The 'Policy and regulations service' helps your business keep track of all open consultations and understand the relevance; enabling you to navigate, understand and form a fitting response to help bring about any policy and regulatory change.

KEY COMPONENTS

Policy and regulations: Headlines

Our 'Policy and regulations service' provides a list of new and open consultations that are about to close, and if they require immediate action. Our experts will also provide comment on consultations that have recently closed, and their outcomes where possible.

Open consultations

The service provides details of current open consultations, including a consumer impact key categorised by the segments of the energy sector, the sponsor of the open consultation, the background and proposal for the open consultation, and an impact analysis of closed consultations.

Code modifications

We also provide details of any current code modification, proposals, a summary of meeting minutes, impact key and an analysis of the code modification. In addition, we provide meeting minutes of the Modifications Committee and the Capacity Modifications Working Groups, who discuss the progress of modification proposals.

Upcoming consultations

Where possible, our experts will provide comment on upcoming consultations so your business can keep abreast of the possible impacts.

Meetings and workshop

As part of the service, our experts regularly attend major energy industry events and hold memberships for key industry bodies such as IWEA, ISEA and Energy Storage Ireland. This allows us to feed direct insights into reports included in this service.

THE SERVICE

The 'Policy and regulations service' has been designed to help your business keep track of open consultations, and to understand the degree and nature of impact of the consultations. The service focuses on guiding your attention towards the pertinent responses that may be required towards the open consultation.

Timely

Customers will receive fortnightly reports with up-to-date information regarding open and recently closed policy and regulatory consultations code modifications, and their impact analysis.

Relevant and bespoke alerts

Customers who are deemed a high impact group will be sent a direct tailored alert to bring immediate attention to the consultation. Additionally, a bespoke alert system can be set up and tailored to the needs of every customer subscribed to our service.

Easily comprehensible and navigable

The report is a comprehensive register of all current policy and regulatory consultations. However, it is the impact key included that enables our customers to navigate, understand and form a fitting response to bring about policy and regulatory change.
